

Reserve Board Action Tied to Economy

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The pressing economic question of the day is: What action will be taken in the next few weeks by the Federal Reserve Board, that semiautonomous group that regulates the nation's money supply?

Either way it moves, to increase the amount of money or slow the flow, will effect to some degree interest rates, prices, wages, stocks, profits, savings, jobs, urban development, buying decisions, production.

The board's job, in its own words, is "to foster a flow of credit and money that will facilitate orderly economic growth, a stable dollar, and a long-range balance in our international payments."

None of these functions is now being fulfilled perfectly, but the board ideally should have the assistance of fiscal policy, which means government policy on taxing and spending.

Since spending probably won't be cut and taxes probably won't be raised soon, the entire job of containing inflation currently falls on the board.

This puts the managers of our monetary system in a terrible predicament, and a dangerous one. If it moves to tighten money supplies, some businessmen who remember last year's credit crunch might be inclined toward panic. Yet it must not permit runaway inflation by making borrowing easy.

Already the board is criticized as contributing to inflation by those who feel too much money is flowing to the economy. An excess of dollar bills permits buyers to increase their demand for goods. Production, however, is not spurred. Instead, manufacturers increase prices.

During inflationary times, the board generally can be expected to order member banks to restrict their flow of credit to borrowers. This slows the flow of money available for spending. It presses down on demand. Prices stabilize.

Should the board then begin now to lessen the flow of money and help stifle inflation? And, say the critics, send interest rates even higher? Wouldn't this cause a depression in some industries, notably housing?

Above all, wouldn't it make the government's task of financing and fighting a war all the more difficult?

Some analysts now are betting that the war will determine board policy. Regardless of inflation, they say, the board must provide money for fighting the war.

The alternatives to traditional action are few. Last year the board tried an innovation, asking banks to restrict loans to certain customers voluntarily. It could try something similar this year, although banks regard this as interference.

Wartime restraints on credit, wages and prices are a possibility, but no regulations exist now that could be implemented quickly.

This leaves the board in a very dismal position, for it means that if present policy continues inflation will be tolerated. As conditions stand now, inflation is as unwelcome, but as inevitable, as winter.

SS Backers Fear Being Outmaneuvered

By JOE HALL

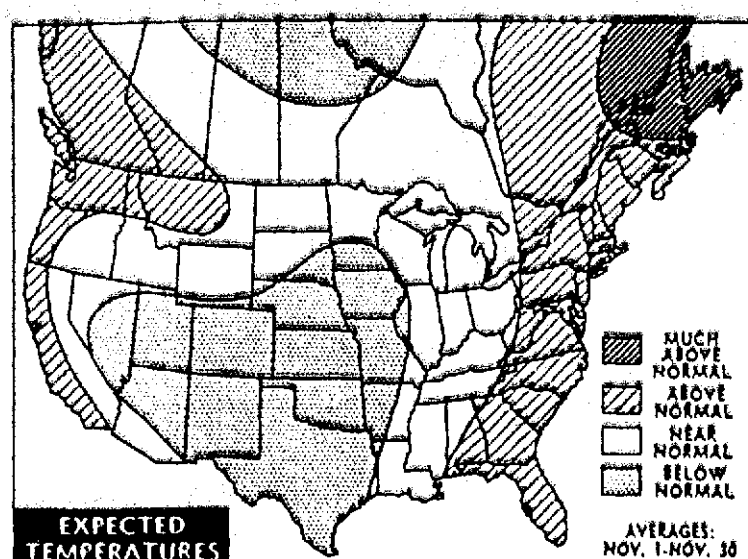

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Democratic members of the Senate Finance Committee are voicing concern they may have been politically outmaneuvered in approving a record boost in Social Security taxes and benefits.

The panel reached tentative agreement on the Social Security measure Thursday, after a month of work in closed session, and Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., predicted the bill would be sent to the Senate floor today.

As it now stands, the measure calls for the biggest boosts in benefits and taxes in the 31-year history of Social Security.

And some Democrats, conceding privately the proposal to hike taxes could become a 1966 campaign issue, credited Republican Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware with forcing the

Humphrey Gets in a Round of Golf

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) —

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Malaysian officials got in a round of golf course diplomacy today. Humphrey said the talk was "very fruitful" but he and his aides lost the match.

"We went down to defeat, but we went down in honor," Humphrey said. The vice president arrived Wednesday night from South Vietnam and goes to Indonesia Saturday.

The Malaysian team, which included Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak and Information Minister Senu Bin Abdul Rahman, won only because Rahman had been to "school in California," Humphrey joked.

Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman did not play because he has a badly sprained ankle. An avid golfer, Rahman customarily takes his visitors to the links and employs the relaxed atmosphere there to resolve disputed issues. There was no indication, though, of any points in dispute between Humphrey and the Malaysians.

After watching one of Razak's good drives, Humphrey said: "I'd like a little bit of technical aid from Malaysia." The remark may have been a reference to a promise by the prime minister that Malaysia, although it won't send troops to Vietnam, will go "all out" in assisting rural reconstruction programs in South Vietnam.

Humphrey's schedule today also included a visit to an agricultural college and the local institute of public health.

boost.

Williams told a reporter his concern was to be certain that all of the benefits added in the Senate committee to the House-passed bill were fully financed starting next year.

"The administration wanted to put off most of this financing until 1969 for what I think are obvious reasons," he said. "But I am getting tired of seeing Congress vote for all these benefits and then not vote for the taxes to pay for them."

Williams said he was surprised that a majority of the committee was willing to go along with his insistence that new taxes starting next Jan. 1 be added to the bill to pay for every benefit hike inserted by the committee.

When the price of these benefits was added up it was found it would take a 5 per cent tax rate on both the employer and worker and an $8,700 taxable wage base to pay for them.

For 1967 the rate is 4.4 per cent and the base $5,600. The House voted to continue the rate at the same level in 1968 and increase the base to $7,600 with rate hikes in later years.

The Johnson administration recommended keeping the rate at 4.4 per cent next year but moving the base up to $7,800.

Enactment of the tax rate and base fixed by the Senate panel would reach a $149,60 tax hike next year for the person earning $8,800 or more. He would pay $440 compared with $290.40 this year.

The Senate committee also decided tentatively to increase the base to $10,800 in 1972. The administration had proposed that this be done in 1974.

The biggest benefit increase agreed to so far in the Senate committee is to raise the level of cash benefits to 15 per cent across-the-board with a $70 minimum monthly payment.

The House version would provide for 12 1/2 per cent across-the-board benefit increases with a $50 minimum. The present monthly minimum is $44.

The Senate panel also voted to increase to $2,000 the amount a person eligible for retirement can earn and not lose any Social Security benefits. The present limit is $1,500 and the House voted to raise it to $1,680.

No Profession Has Greater Casualty List Than Novelists

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — So maybe you'd like to write novels and become rich and famous?

Well, listen to this warning from Leon Uris, whose most recent best-seller is "Topaz," and who turned himself from a high school dropout into one of the world's most successful novelists:

"I don't know of any other profession that has the casualty rate that novel writing has. That life in the lonely room gets them."

"Novel writing is a real death trap. It kills off major writers. It burns them out."

"The novelist, in a way, is like a garbage can. He has to expose himself to the filthy, the leprous, the ugly, as part of life. He can't take his eyes away from truth."

"He has to feel these things. And in time they break him down."

Among major novelists Uris feels were burned out by the inexorable requirements of their craft he listed Jack London, Sinclair Lewis, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Ernest Hemingway and William Faulkner. The key to a novelist's personal survival is balance, he said, adding with a smile: "I never let work interfere with my pleasure."

In actually, however, the athletically built writer—he's 43, blue-eyed, has iron-gray hair, a sensitive face that breaks into a ready grin when he thinks he has said something too serious—is a man of intense self-discipline.

Beginning at the age of six, when he composed an operetta about the death of his dog, a work that never managed to reach Broadway, the Baltimore-born writer turned out hundreds of thousands of unpublished words.

He quit school at 17 to join the U.S. Marines and serve in the Pacific combat theater. After the war he spent eight frustrating years before his first novel, "Battle Cry," based on his Marine experiences, found its way into print.

Turned down previously by seven publishers, it has since sold seven million copies and been made into a film. Altogether the six novels by Uris—include "Exodus" and "A Rage in Eden"—have sold between 17 and 20 million copies.

"It took me all my life to become an overnight success," Uris said wryly. "I had a lot of trouble breaking the doors down."

Rep. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., author of one of several pending moves for a mandatory spending cut, said the basic issue is still economy, rather than a tax increase.

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican member of the Appropriations Committee, replied to a question about Johnson's appeal with another question: "Did he also appeal to people to demand cuts in spending?"

From the Ways and Means Committee, which shelved the tax increase proposal until some agreement should be reached on spending cuts, came word that nothing has changed.

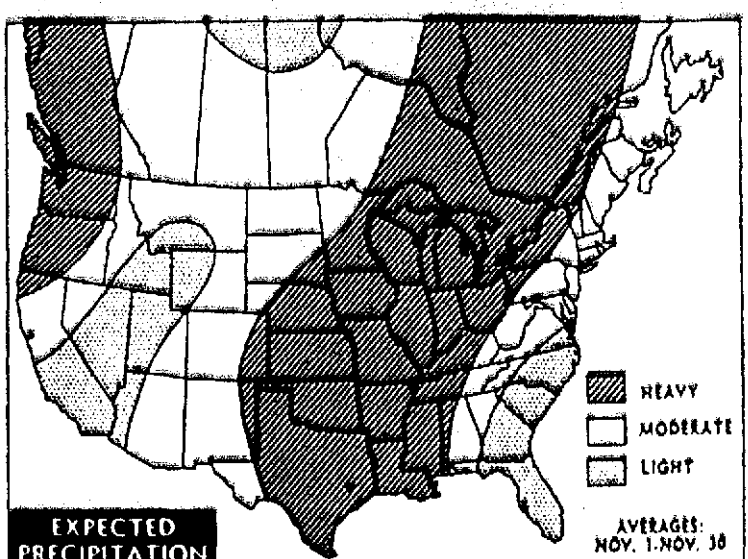

A well-posted committee source said he considers it dead for this year.

But the principle of a tax increase, if not Johnson's specific program, got support outside government ranks.

The directors of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce came out for a tax boost—provided it is matched dollar for dollar by spending reductions. The chamber was one of the few large business organizations that had not backed a tax increase in some form.

Guards Called on Eve of Election

GARY, Ind. (AP) — State riot police and National Guard troops are being ordered into racially tense Gary to prevent disorders during Tuesday's city election in which a Negro is running for mayor.

Gov. Roger D. Branigin said he issued the callup alert Thursday because of "information, which I believe reliable, indicates imminent danger to the peace of the Gary community."

Branigin refused to say how many policemen and troops would be sent in, or when. But Adj. Gen. John S. Anderson said earlier that about 4,000 Guardsmen would be training Tuesday night.

Democratic candidate Richard G. Hatcher and Lake County Democratic Chairman John G. Krupa, who is not supporting Hatcher, disagreed on the need for troops election eve.

"I think that the presence of National Guard troops might be somewhat provocative and I certainly will be interested to know from the governor's office or the governor himself what the basis was for issuing the order," Hatcher said.

"I am absolutely unaware of any imminent danger to the peace of the Gary community," he added.

Krupa countered, "I think their presence here will help to minimize any flareups, but I know there will be flareups."

He said tension was acute in racially mixed neighborhoods. About 55 per cent of Gary's 180,000 residents are Negro.

Krupa said Hatcher backers have been threatening opponents who refused to display campaign signs.

"I think something is going to happen no matter which way the election goes," Krupa said. "They're going to try to keep the whites from voting."

The Republican mayoral candidate opposing Hatcher is Joseph Radigen, a furniture store operator.

Hatcher has filed a suit in U.S. District Court at Hammond accusing Krupa, as county clerk and election board secretary, of purging voter registration lists of many qualified Negroes and adding phony names of white persons.

The county election board Thursday restored more than 5,200 names which had been erased from registration lists Oct. 25.

Faubus Hints He Might Run Again

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

Former Gov. Orval Faubus hinted strongly Thursday that he may oppose Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in his bid for reelection in 1968.

"He (Rockefeller) might have to defeat me, perhaps not," Faubus said. "I have not yet reached a definite decision. There is a definite possibility I would run."

Faubus said that it is becoming more and more apparent everyday that things are "not going well in state government," but said the decision to run depended on his health, the attitude of his family and his personal feelings.

Faubus said Rockefeller has not spent more than 20 hours in his office, listening to the people's problems, since the 1967 General Assembly adjourned.

"You cannot run a state spending less than 20 hours a month in the office," he said.

Faubus said Rockefeller's administration seemed more concerned with discrediting him than running the state.

Winston-Salem Riot Brings Out Guards

By ROB WOOD

Associated Press Writer
WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — An eight-block section of downtown Winston-Salem remained sealed off today following a night of racial violence and looting put down by 400 National Guardsmen and helmeted police.

Three Negroes treated for gunshot wounds were among 16 persons injured, including seven policemen, and 51 persons were arrested.

Although the downtown section was quieted by early morning, firebombings and reports of snipers kept police and firemen busy in other sections of the city.

A service station and a furniture store burned in other areas but there were no reports of persons wounded outside the downtown area.

"The problem is continuing," said Police Chief Justus Tucker.

Mayor W. C. Benton blamed the violence on "a bunch of hoodlums who have taken advantage of a situation."

"This is the excuse they have been waiting for," he said. "We're going to stop it. Whatever force it takes to stop it, we'll use it."

Negro leaders also called for an end of the violence.

The Rev. J. T. McMillin of the Winston-Salem chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said: "This riot is adding injury to the city, to the race and to racial understanding."

The Guardsmen, from a Winston-Salem unit and a company from the nearby city of Statesville, were mobilized on the orders of North Carolina Gov. Dan Moore Thursday night.

The violence had erupted some four hours earlier following funeral services for a Negro who died after being struck by a policeman. Murder charges against the officer were dismissed but solicitor Thomas W. Moore Jr. said today the case would be revived because of "other evidence."

The trouble apparently started when a small group of Negroes gathered on a downtown street and began shouting and cursing. Then junk in a trash can was set afire and other Negroes joined the demonstration. By early this morning the city jail was reported full. Most of those in custody were charged with disturbing the peace and resisting arrest. A few were charged with inciting to riot.

The outbreak began just before midnight as ministers were intoning last rites for 32-year-old James E. Eller, who died last Saturday, two weeks after he was struck with a blackjack by a policeman. The officer, W.E. Owens, said Eller resisted arrest.

Eller's wife obtained a warrant charging the policeman with murder and Owens has been suspended from the police force pending an investigation.

While the violence flared in the downtown area, thousands of Winston-Salem residents were unaware of it. Some 3,000 people, both white and Negro, attended a high school football game without incident.

Winston-Salem, with a population of 150,000, is North Carolina's second largest city. It is a textile and manufacturing center and the home of the giant R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

Cloudy, Cold for Hog Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The weather for Saturday afternoon's football game between the Arkansas Razorbacks and Texas A&M is expected to be partly cloudy and cold.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Little Rock predicts a game-time temperature near 40. Winds are expected to be northerly to northeasterly eight to 15 miles an hour.

White Clover Tests Better in Hope Area

FAYETTEVILLE — In white clover variety trials conducted by the University of Arkansas Agricultural Experiment Station, the two-year average herbage yield of Regal was significantly higher than that of Idaho Common at Fayetteville. Stands of Idaho Common were inferior to those of Regal, Ladino, and Louisiana S-1 at the end of the first harvest season and were depleted still further during the second season.

In a trial seeded at the Southwest Branch Experiment Station, Hope, Louisiana S-1 was significantly higher than Idaho and New Zealand varieties. Dr. M. S. Offutt, agronomist with the Experiment Station says these yield differences were largely the result of differences in stand survival.

Offutt goes on to say that in another trial at Hope, Louisiana S-1 and Regal were significantly higher than Ladino and Nolan's Improved, and the latter two were significantly higher than the two Idaho entries in total herbage yield.

In these trials Regal survived the hot, dry weather better than any of the other varieties and produced an adequate quantity of seed for natural reseeding, says Offutt. It also equalled Ladino in rate of recovery after cutting.

Louisiana S-1 performed especially well at Hope and, although it did not recover as rapidly after cutting as Regal or Ladino it maintained stands well through natural reseeding at both locations. Ladino, on the other hand, did not reseed as well at Hope as it did at Fayetteville. New Zealand and the Idaho entries did not perform satisfactorily, says Offutt.

HUSBAND SHOCKED AWAKE—TOO LATE?

Dear Helen:

We married when I was 22, my wife 18. Our children are grown now and I sold the house. When I asked my wife why she hadn't started looking for an apartment, she answered, "Because I'm leaving you."

Not once had she complained, though-looking back—I realize she had every right. In 26 years of married life, she gave and I took. She raised four kids while I spent my time on business and sports. I had a couple of affairs, which I congratulated myself on for keeping secret. She knew about them. I went hunting and out to games almost every weekend. I drank too much, and when I was home, I slept it off on the couch. I took her for granted. She was "there." She kept the machinery oiled and running, the kids from bothering me, my shirts ironed. I scarcely remembered how she looked, much less that she had feelings. She was my "house-keeper with bedroom privileges," and I knew she'd go on forever.

These things I see clearly now. Funny how I didn't, all through the years when she quietly chalked them up against me.

Well, she's gone. I saw her last night at a restaurant. Either she has changed or I've been blind. She was with another man.

I know I don't deserve another chance, but what can I do to win her back before the divorce is final? — BLIND AND STUPID

Dear B AND S:

From here, I'm not sure whether your wife cared deeply—or cared nothing—for you all those years. Quite ones who don't fight for their husbands may be loving saints — or it's possible they're just too uninterested to make the effort. Perhaps you aren't as much at fault as you think. There's only one way to find out: Woo your wife as if she is a brand-new girlfriend. Show her how much you care, and how much you've changed.

(And if she comes back, let's hope she becomes human enough to kick you on the shins when you deserve it!) — H.

Dear Helen:

It seems that whenever I call certain acquaintances, they always have such petty reasons for asking me to call back — like pet TV program.

I think people should be thankful in this uncaring age that the call is genuine friendship and not one of those nuisance sales pitches.

My calls are not just for idle gossip, and I am not the type who talks for hours. Should I politely play second fiddle to TV, or cross these people off my list? —READER

Dear Reader:

I'd be inclined to put these TV addicts on a "You call ME—I won't call you again" Basis—And if you're legitimately busy when they ring, ask them to buzz you later.

P.S. My favorite phone-friends are those who start their conversations with, "Do you have a few minutes?" Then, if my dinner is burning or I'm hitting a deadline, I feel free to answer, "May I call you back in an hour?" But I'd never employ the put-off for a mere TV program. —H

Thank you. —C.A.B.

Dear Helen: Please thank the fine people, your readers, who sent cards and letters to my cousin, Alice Scherf. Went to see her yesterday, and she showed me a box of over 1,000 letters and cards, some as far away as Vietnam.

I know now that, in spite of fighting, there's still a lot of love in this world. There must be when so many people would take the time to send cheer to someone they don't even know. —VANESSA

MRS. RONALD KIDD

The wedding of Miss Margaret Polk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Minor D. Polk, and Ronald Kidd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Kidd of Spring Hill, was solemnized on September 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Connie Robbins, pastor of the Spring Hill Methodist Church officiated.

The double-ring ceremony was performed beneath an arch of greenery that was flanked by baskets of white glads and carnations. A white dove and satin bow centered the arch, and there was a background of seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers.

Miss Wilma McBay of Texarkana, organist, played a program of pre-nuptial music and accompanied Miss Ann McBay of Texarkana when she sang "Always" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion. Before the exchange of vows the candles were lighted by Miss Toni Polk, sister of the bride. She was attired in pink satin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of white peau de soie made with a bodice and long sleeves of Chantilly lace. With the round neck of the dress she wore a single strand of pearls, and her train was chapel-length. The bride's veil of illusion was held in place by a satin bow trimmed with simulated fleur d'amour. She carried a bouquet of white peau de soie roses.

Immediately preceding her down the aisle was the bride's honor attendant, Miss Ann Mitchell, who wore a floor-length dress of pink satin. With the short sleeves frock she wore a head piece of pink tulle and a pink satin rose. Miss Donna McLaughlin of El Dorado, niece of the bride, was dressed in similar fashion as she performed the duties of flower girl.

Gilbert Brown, Jr. served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Gene Robinson and Wayne McBay.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Polk wore a pink knit ensemble with matching accessories, and Mrs. Kidd, mother of the groom, wore a navy and white suit with black patent accessories. Each had an orchid corsage.

A reception followed in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table was overlaid in white and centered with pink glads and white carnations with pink candles on either side of the centerpiece. Punch and the three-tiered wedding cake were served by Mrs. Perry Foster, Mrs. Roy Collier, aunt of the bride, and Miss Joyce Collier, cousin of the bride.

At the groom's table punch and chocolate cake were served by Mrs. Billy Ray McLaughlin of El

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The mighty grizzly—"the bear that walks like a man"—was the subject Wednesday night of this season's first special program made with cooperation by the National Geographic Society.

The 60-minute CBS program was an account of the work of twins, ecologists Frank and John Craighead who for the past eight years have been studying the bears in Yellowstone National Park.

Big, fast and fierce, the grizzly is among the animals facing extermination, with only about 1,000 remaining in the country. The Craighead brothers have been busily tracking, capturing, tranquilizing, studying and tagging them—highly hazardous work as was evident from their film work.

Portions of the program showing the animals and particularly the film showing the scientists at work with the bears were interesting. Sometimes they had to race through the job of measuring skulls, making casts of teeth and paws so they could scurry away when the anesthetics suddenly wore off and the bears lunged back into angry activity.

The producers, however, seemed unable to decide whether they were starring the bears or the brothers—or perhaps there was just not enough film about the grizzly to fill the hour. So they showed the home life of the scientists and showed them working in other areas—studying the habits of birds of prey, for example.

Jack Benny and his violin starred on NBC's "Music Hall" later in the evening, but it was certainly not Benny's finest hour. He was, of course, in his usual character, but that works best when he does not have much interference.

Jack was great giving a dead pan demonstration of the difference in tone between an ordinary fiddle and his Stradivarius. But Benny playing along with Liberace and dressed in a sequin jacket was something less than amusing.

Broadcasts of feature movies are beginning to slip in the ratings. The most recent Nielsen ratings, released Wednesday, show that only two movies made the top list for the week of Oct. 16-22. In previous weeks, four or five have regularly made the grade.

This indicates, not that movies are losing favor with audiences, but that the networks have put their best crowd-catcher into the schedules early and are now beginning to use run-of-the-mill features.

Most popular programs of the period, according to the Nielsen estimates, were CBS's "Lucy Show," NBC's "Bonanza," CBS's "Gomer Pyle and "Andy Griffith Show," ABC's "Beaumont Newhall," CBS's "Jacqueline Gleason Show" and "Gunsmoke," NBC's "Dean Martin Show" and its Saturday and Tuesday night movies.

Q—I have Parkinson's disease. Could it make me lose my balance? Is there any cure for it?

A—The cause is unknown. Persons with this disease develop a quick, shuffling accelerating gait because their stooped posture throws them off balance. Thus they are more likely to lose their balance when walking than when standing still. Treatment with modern drugs and an operation in which a small area in the brain is destroyed by freezing has gone far to bring relief to some victims of this disease.

Fight Cold Elements

Winter weather plays havoc with any girl's beauty. Many delicately skinned women suffer from windburn and chapping of face, hands and legs during the cold months. Before going out into the cold, it's a good idea to dab a little first-aid cream on nose and chin (under make-up) and on your hands and legs. The cream isn't greasy, won't stain, and provides a thin film to the skin that will help battle the elements.

Keep Legs in Shape

Since the mini is here to stay, for awhile at least, be sure your legs are in shape. Firming exercises are important and, also, be careful that they are always de-fuzzed. No matter what method you use for eliminating the unwanted hair, it's a good idea to use a softening cream afterward to smooth the skin and eliminate blotching.

Skin-Softener

If your lips are sometimes dry and your eyes occasionally seem irritated, you may be a borderline allergic or have sensitive skin. Baby oil left on overnight will soften your skin and protect it from moisture loss. A thin film can also serve as a make-up base.

Picks Pro Winners Saturday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Picking against Green Bay is akin to attacking motherhood, burning the flag and wearing an orange tie on St. Patrick's Day. But the old Hand-picker is going to try it again with Baltimore after failing with St. Louis.

The Cardinals did give the Packers a real scare and the New York Giants did upset the Cleveland Browns. Unfortunately for the average, similar upsets by the Detroit Lions, Atlanta Falcons and Philadelphia Eagles were not predicted.

After an 8-4 weekend, thanks to a sweep in the AFL, the batting average for the year is .56-20-7 (37-14-5 in the NFL and 19-6-2 in the AFL). Let's give it another whirl. All games this week are Sunday afternoon.

NFL
Baltimore 24, Green Bay 20—A wild, wild day in Baltimore with the unbeaten Colts very much aware they have lost five straight to Green Bay. The Packers had a rugged night in St. Louis Monday and must carry a few bruises into this dig one. Lionel Aldridge may be out. Johnny Unitas vs. Bart Starr and what more could you ask? Colts have big air punch but no ground game. Packers tops in defense. Lou Michaels or Don Chandler decide it with a field goal.

Los Angeles 28, San Francisco 17—Forget that rout of the 49ers by the Lions last week. San Francisco beat the Rams 27-24 in Oct. 8 meeting with a John Brodie-Sonny Randle pass. Rams didn't get to Brodie once but that Fearsome Foursome is geared for the big push. Rams must win to stay in there with Baltimore in Coastal Division. And they can run on 49ers with Dick Bass and Les Josephson.

New York 31, Minnesota 27—Now the Vikings find out how the other half lives, chasing Fran Tarkenton. Giants running hot hand on offense. Porous defense should hold up before Minnesota's sputtering attack. Giants won preseason game 21-3 but never have beaten Vikings in regular season.

Dallas 28, Atlanta 17—Return of Don Meredith just what was needed to revive sagging attack. Falcons riding on pink cloud after first victory of season and could be dangerous with new battery of Randy Johnson and Tommy McDonald. If they can keep Cowboys off Randy's neck. St. Louis 27, Washington 21—Scared to death of this one. Cards may be down after losing

LYLE JONES

Lyle Jones, freshman from Hope, is working at offensive center for the Southern State Mule-riders and has made a lot of improvement this year. Jones is a pre-veterinary major. He attended Hope High School where his coach was Freddie Glaze. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle E. Jones, Sr. of Hope.

that big effort to Packers Monday night. Jim Hart, Dave Williams, Johnny Roland and Jim Bakken must be in top form to outscore Sonny Jurgensen's arm with Charley Taylor back in action. Defense gives Cards edge in tight fit.

Pittsburgh 24, Cleveland 17—Yeah, an upset especially if Frank Ryan can't play or has trouble throwing with that sore arm. Steelers still have a chance in jungle of Century Division and have defense to handle Browns' running game. Browns won first game 21-10, Oct. 7.

Detroit 21, Chicago 10—Despite the usual guessing game about Gale Sayers' availability, Bears beat Lions 14-3 at Chicago Oct. 15 when Sayers ran for 142 yards in the rain. Karl Sweetan seems to have found touch to ignite Lions' offense in ramble over 49ers.

Philadelphia 31, New Orleans 14—Unpredictable. Eagles ride up and down on a seesaw from week to week. Strictly on last week's inspired effort against Cowboys, we'll take Eagles but they had better not let down because Gary Cuozzo has Saints marching.

AFL
Kansas City 24, New York 21—Doubt about Joe Namath's condition makes this a real puzzle. Chiefs' Len Dawson hit the targets last week against staggering Denver team but the Chiefs are hurting physically. Jets can't do it without Namath despite running of Emerson Boozer. Chiefs won preseason game 30-17.

Oakland 35, Denver 14—Raiders rode into lead in the Western Division by manhandling

DeQueen Tops Yerger by 39-13 Tally

The DeQueen team spotted Hope Yerger a 13-0 lead last night then poured on the coal to win by a score of 39-13.

Hope scored first on a 75-yard pass play from Frank Prater to Spencer Brown with the first quarter almost over. Yerger again struck for the second time in the second quarter on a 44 yard pass play from Willie Prescott to Johnny Smith. Smith made the score 13-0 by kicking the extra point.

From then on it was mostly DeQueen whose first tally just before the half was made by Sam Cowling on a six yard run. Athey kicked the extra point and it was 13-7 at halftime.

The Leopards kept pouring it on in the second half. Randy Hall crossed on a one yard run. Cowling sprinted four yards for another tally. Williams went five yards for another and with only 2:02 left in the game Hall scored again from 16 yards out giving the Leopards the 39-13 victory.

Shoats Rock North Texas State 44-16

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas' Shoats rolled up a four-touchdown halftime advantage here Thursday night and defeated the North Texas State Eagles 44-16.

Tailback Dick Fuller, a 195-pounder from Manchester, N.H., scored three touchdowns on runs of five, two and three yards and quarterback Bill Montgomery of Carrollton, Tex., accounted for two more touchdowns.

Montgomery passed to David Carter for one touchdown and ran one yard for another. Keith Golden reeled off a five-yard touchdown run and Danny James ran 12 yards for the other Arkansas touchdowns. Arkansas led 25-0 at the half.

Eaglet quarterback Billy Anderson passed 11 yards to Hayward Younger for one touchdown and 24 yards to Wilmer Levels for another touchdown. San Diego 51-10 and don't figure to be upset by team they defeated 51-0 on Sept. 10. Things so tough in Denver that Lou Saban may go with rookie Jim Leclair at quarterback. Home field may help Broncos.

Houston 21, Boston 17—An upset. Patriots slight favorites because Oilers' offense is weak. Houston defense should contain Boston whether it's Babe Parilli or ex-Oiler Don Trull. Runbacks and interceptions big part of Oiler offense.

Buffalo 21, Miami 7—Bills hurting with Harry Jacobs out for year. Miami coming off bye and five-game losing streak with Bob Griese likely quarterback. But Buffalo should sneak home despite 10-7 preseason loss.

San Diego has the bye this week.

Thinks Hogs Will Win by 17-14

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks have reached the point of now or never in the Southwest Conference race.

Arkansas is 1-1-1 and plays SWC leader Texas A&M, 3-1, at Fayetteville Saturday afternoon and no team has ever won the conference with two losses.

The young Razorbacks needed victories in their first two games to gain confidence but they fell short by one and two-point margins.

Sophomore quarterback John Elchier performed above expectations against TCU and the Razorbacks picked up a 26-0 victory. They had to fight for a 10-10 tie with Baylor and then lost a 21-12 decision to Texas.

The Razorbacks last week eliminated most of the critical mistakes that had plagued them in their first five games and defeated Kansas State 28-7. Coach Frank Broyles said the Razorbacks prepared for K-State like it was the start of a "new" season.

Quarterback Ronny South passed well against K-State and surprised the Wildcats a couple of times with his running ability. South and junior quarterback Gordon Norwood will have to carry the load against A&M since Elchier is out for the season with a couple of broken bones in his ankle.

Arkansas cannot afford to give the explosive Aggie offense room to operate and must avoid the killing mistakes. A&M quarterback Ed Hargett is a fine passer and has fullback Wendell Housley and tailback Larry Stelgent to hand off to.

A&M should be favored by comparison scores since it beat Baylor 21-3. However, the odds-makers pick Arkansas by two to five points. They may be right. Arkansas 17, A&M 14.

Arkansas State University lost its big Southland Conference game against Lamar Tech last week but has a chance to rebound against Southwest, La., a non-conference opponent. This one will be at Jonesboro.

ASU 20, Southwest, La., 7.
Arkansas A&M, upset last week by Alcorn A&M, has a chance this week to throw the Southwest Athletic Conference race into a scramble. The Golden Lions play Grambling, La., Saturday at Pine Bluff. Grambling is the only team in the league with only one loss. A&M is hard to beat at home.

A&M 23, Grambling 21.
Arkansas A&M, the leader in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference, steps out of the conference this week to play Livingston, Ala. The Weevils haven't lost in the conference or out.

A&M 14, Livingston 7.
State College of Arkansas, the only team with a chance to catch A&M, also plays a non-conference opponent — Louisiana College at Conway. Bobby Tiner and company should be looking for revenge after last week's loss to A&M.

SCA 20, Louisiana College 6.
Henderson plays at Harding and Ouachita is at Arkansas Tech in the only conference games. Harding is the only one of the four which does not have a shot at third place. Ouachita is 2-2 in the conference. Tech is 1-2-1 and Henderson is 1-2.
Henderson 20, Harding 14.
Ouachita 14, Tech 10.

Arkansans in Hawaii Meet

HONOLULU (AP) — Two Arkansans shot identical scores in the first-round of the $100,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament and finished on the bottom ranks.

R. H. Sikes of Springdale and Dick Crawford of Bella Vista shot 36-36-74 to finish six strokes behind leader Tom Weiskopf who carded a 35-35-68.

Goats vs. Cows

Cows tend on the kind of grass that grows in Italy do not produce much milk. Italy's goats produce an important part of the country's milk supply.

THE SUPERHEROES of Russian athletics have been high jump champ Valery Brumel, left, and long jumper Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, right, sharing spaghetti in a New York restaurant with distance runner Evgeny Momotkov.

Romeo Faces Seven in Race Sat.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Romeo Hanover races to enhance his bid for harness horse-of-the-year honors when he faces seven others Saturday in the $60,000 American Pacing Classic at Hollywood Park.

The probable favorite for the mile and an eighth test, Lucky Star Stable and Flinder's Romeo drew the No. 3 starting position Friday, inside all the horses who figure to be his closest rivals.

In post position order are Fashion Tip, Song Cycle, Romeo Hanover, Dancing David, Tarpoit Lib, True Duane, Easy Prom and King Noble.

Romeo Hanover won his Hollywood Park debut easily in the mile and a sixteenth Huntington Park Pace but was upset by Easy Prom last week in the Preview Pace. Romeo was trained this week by Stanley Dancer who flew out from New York for the job, but will be driven by Del Miller since Dancer must return to the East.

Easy Prom, owned by Farrington and Arnold, appears to have the best chance of beating the favorite. His 1:57 2-5 in the Preview was the fastest mile of the meeting and he also holds the second fastest 1:57 4-5.

The Unusual Is Standard for Peacock

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas football brochure, which was put together last spring, lists Max Peacock, a junior from Stuttgart, as a defensive monster man.

Peacock worked at defensive halfback, safety and monster man last year and is now the Razorbacks' starting split end. But, the unusual is standard for Peacock.

He is one of those rare major college football players who began his freshman year without a football scholarship. He was awarded a scholarship last year.

"I've always wanted to play at Arkansas," says Peacock. "You know how it is, when you're young, you idolize the Razorbacks."

"My dad always told me that if I stuck with it I was bound to play my last year," he said. "I've always felt that even one year would satisfy me."

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles says he began thinking about switching Peacock from defense to offense last summer. "I got to thinking who could possibly be a split end," says Broyles. "He used to cover Bobby Crockett and could cover him effectively."

Broyles says Peacock has made the switch to offense in fine style but that he needs more polish.

"It takes a long time to learn how to get off the line and how to vary your routes, according to the coverage," Broyles says. "Each year we see more kinds of coverage. Against Crockett it was either single coverage or double coverage."

Peacock caught four passes for 80 yards against Texas and his play earned him the starting role against Kansas State, he hauled in six for 51 yards against the Wildcats.

Arkansas opponents have been single covering the split end which given the defense one more man to help against a running game. The emergence of Peacock as a threat should aid the Razorbacks' offense and the Razorbacks will need every bit of help they can get Saturday against Texas A&M, the Southwest Conference leader.

Toledo Nears Touchdown Pass Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Toledo of San Francisco State has moved to within one of the all-time college record for touchdown passes while retaining his lead in total offense among the nation's small-college football players.

The latest statistics compiled by National Collegiate Sports Services revealed today that Toledo is No. 1 in total offense with 2,224 yards, 91 more than runner-up Rich Lichtel of Bozonsburg, Pa.

Toledo's four touchdown passes against Sacramento State last weekend increased his total for the campaign to 31. The record of 32 is shared by Jerry Rhone of Tulsa and George Bork of Northern Illinois. Bork set the mark in 1963 and Rhone tied it in 1964.

Lichtel has the most pass completions, 153. Then comes Joe Stetser of Chico State with 141 and Toledo, 138.

Doug Van Boven of Central, Iowa, is a double pacesetter. He leads in rushing with 1,145 yards and in scoring with 96 points on 16 touchdowns.

Harvey Tanner, Murray state, tops the pass receiving list with 62 and Steve Turner of Southwestern, Tenn., heads the puntling figures with a 46.8 yard average for 19 punts.

In the team categories, Waynesburg leads in total offense with a 488.1 yard average, and in scoring with a 60.3 point average for seven games. Tennessee State is No. 1 in total defense with an average yield of only 72.3 yards for six games.

AAA Adopts New Sports Classification

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Athletic Association's governing body has adopted a proposal that would raise three-state high schools to a fifth classification—AAAA.

Schools meeting the new AAAA requirements of 1,500 students in grades 10-12 are Little Rock Central, North Little Rock and Fort Smith Northside.

The proposal gives these three the authority to decide whether other schools, with less than 1,500 enrollment, should be allowed into the new division.

A motion which would have altered the AAA's current rule concerning athletic eligibility of transfer students, was tabled after the executive committee decided to wait until after court action on the matter.

The AAA suggested the rule be altered to allow athletes transferring from a predominantly Negro school to a predominantly white school to be immediately eligible.

Chicago Bulls Finally Win Over Seattle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago Bulls finally have won their first game in the National Basketball Association this season after nine straight defeats. They beat Seattle 119-105 Thursday night in the only NBA game scheduled.

New Orleans whipped New Jersey 141-117, Minnesota beat Indiana 109-94 and Pittsburgh defeated Oakland 111-107 in the American Basketball Association.

The Bulls came from behind against Seattle on a neutral court at Spokane. Bob Boozer and Jerry Sloan sparked a 25-10 Chicago burst in the last seven minutes.

Boozer finished with 29 points. Sloan, who hit for four baskets in the closing minutes, tallied 18. Rookie Bob Rule led the SuperSonics with 29 points.

Playing at home, New Orleans took a slim five-point lead into the second quarter against New Jersey and then brought Jesse Branson off the bench.

By the time the half ended, New Orleans led 71-53 and Branson had scored 20 points. Branson, a 6-foot-6 from Elon College in North Carolina, finished with 30 points.

Bob Lloyd, former Rutgers star, led the Americans with 21 points, including a perfect 11-of-11 from the foul line.

Les Hunter's 29 points led the Muskies to their home court victory. The former Chicago Loyola star helped build a three-point first-quarter lead to a 53-40 halftime bulge. Mel Daniels scored 19 points for Minnesota and Roger Brown scored 27 for the Pacers.

Pittsburgh beat Oakland on the road, helped by five points in the last minute. Charlie Williams led the Pilgrims with 26 points. Lavern Tart paced the Oaks with 35, including 25 in the second half.

Students in grades 10-12 are Little Rock Central, North Little Rock and Fort Smith Northside.

Sometimes the most exciting games in 4-AA come when two second-division clubs get together. With that in mind, the Hope Bobcats and the Warren Lumberjacks face each other this evening in a conference battle at Hammons Stadium.

As far as the records are concerned, little difference can be discerned between the two teams. The Bobcats are 1-1 in 4-AA, and the Lumberjacks have a 3-5-1 mark on the season, while the Bobcats are 1-5-1 and 2-6-1. Both teams were forecasted to finish high in the standings, but neither has been able to jell into potent ball clubs.

Warren likes to run from a winged - T formation on offense with a split end to the strong side. The Jacks have two good running backs in Leigh Hargis and Rickey Garrett, and an outstanding triple-threat in Robert Dew at quarterback. In last week's 10-6 loss to Fordyce, Dew threw 27 passes, an indication of things to come.

On defense the Lumberjacks concentrate on a monster-type defense, much similar to that of the Bobcats. And coach Jamie Raper has his biggest boys on defense, putting together one of the strongest units around. The Jacks' best performers on defense are Tommy Forrest and Tim Williams, who pressure the opposing passer well.

From the Bobcats' camp comes the enlightening report of "all healthy", and Glaze's men have been firing themselves up for the top effort that Warren is known for. Also a note of pride here, as Bobcat assistant coach Ronnie Higgins was graduated from Warren High School, and he would love to see his old alma mater beaten by his forces. Last year, when Higgins was at Fordyce, his Redbuds slaughtered Warren by several touchdowns.

After examining the circumstances around tonight's game, I hope you will decide to make the pilgrimage to Hammons Stadium before the 7:30 p.m. kickoff tonight. KXAR will broadcast the game live, with pregame activities beginning at 7:15 p.m.

Unofficial Ballot

This is how Tuesday's ballot will look!

Special Election in the City of Hope, Arkansas
Held on the 7th day of November, 1967

The City of Hope proposes to construct street improvements throughout the City, which improvements shall consist of the purchase of rights-of-way for construction of public streets and for the construction of, widening, straightening, paving, and otherwise improving streets and boulevards within the corporate limits of the City. The City proposes to finance the construction of the said improvements through the issuance of general obligation bonds under the provisions of Amendment No. 13 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas in the principal amount not to exceed $539,000.00, by bonds to be secured by a pledge of a motor vehicle tax not to exceed $5.00 per year per vehicle under the provisions of Act 446 of the Acts of 1965, as amended, in the principal amount not to exceed $129,000.00, and by bonds to be secured by a pledge of parking meter revenues under the provisions of Act 269 of the Acts of 1951, as amended, in the principal amount not to exceed $97,000.00. The question of issuing each type of bonds is submitted to the electors for their approval. If bonds of more than one type are approved, the bonds may be issued separately or may be combined with bonds of any other type into one or more issues, but in no event will the aggregate principal amount of all bonds to be issued exceed $765,000.00.

In the event that the vote on the general obligation bonds is favorable, the said bonds will be secured by a levy of not to exceed five (5) mills on the dollar of taxable property within the City, and will be supported additionally by a pledge of surplus water and electric system revenues.

Vote on each measure by placing an "X" in the square opposite the measure, either for or against.

Palmer Moans About Traps in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) - "Those sand traps killed me," said Arnold Palmer. The Hawaiian trade winds killed a bunch more.

But nothing bothered Tom Weiskopf, an old married man of 28 - who couldn't make a dime in the Hawaii Open on his honeymoon last year.

Weiskopf, 6-3 and 175 pounds, posted a steady - "Nothing spectacular," he said - 68 four under par for the Wajalee course which etches along a Pacific reef.

That gave him the first round lead in this $100,000 tournament, over two fellows hardly anyone had heard of, Jim Grant and John Felus, who had 69s.

Grant, a recent graduate of the PGA school, is in his second tournament. Felus, smallest player in the field at 5-4, has been around a little longer but has never won more than $900. Palmer, who took most of the

We would like to use this means to express our deep feelings of gratitude to a group of wonderful people who came to our assistance in the hour of our great need. Mrs. Cora Stafford. The Grace of God in the lives of the people was manifested in the way they showed their loving concern for us and we will be eternally thankful to them for the message given to us by Rev. TIRED DIVERS who wear themselves out just getting to their underwater work sites may get a lift in the future from a miniature submarine resembling a large torpedo. The swimmer transport would be freely flooded, eliminating the cumbersome necessities of passing through airlocks to leave the sub or purging the interior of water. Applications of the little sub, developed by North American Aviation, could be in underwater work projects on oil wellheads, construction projects, distressed vehicles, surveying or various military undertakings.

Here is another hand that shows the technique of rubber bridge. South's pass and West's one spade bid are normal enough and we won't quarrel with North's takeout double. East's redouble is also correct by any standard, and we rather like South's bid of two hearts.

North might have given an immediate heart raise but he knew that East had promised a bid when he redoubled one spade, so North decided to await developments.

Two spades was the best bid East could find and West should have passed. It would take a microscope to discover any additional values in his hand. In any event, that three spade bid produced spectacular results. North decided to try four hearts and East promptly doubled. No one had anywhere to go, and it was up to West to lead.

If he had led a diamond South would have wound up going down at least one trick, but West led the king of spades.

South looked over the dummy unhappily. He had hoped to get a crack at three spades, but here he was trying to make four hearts. The lead was all right. He ruffed in dummy and saw nothing better to do than to play a low diamond.

East played the king, just to keep in practice with his false-carding. A club shift at this point would have really bothered South, but East had an inspiration. He played ace and another heart.

South smiled happily and proceeded to gather in the rest of the tricks. He played ace and another diamond which he ruffed. The queen of spades produced West's ace and a ruff in dummy. Diamonds did not break, but when the nine of spades fell South was able to discard two clubs from dummy and use the last trump to ruff his club deuce.

What do you do now?
A—Some bid is clearly indicated, and we favor the conservative call of three spades. Your partner may have a very bad hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid three spades. West bids four hearts and your partner passes. What do you do now?

$765,000 Street Bond Plan Is in 3 Parts; 'Yes' or 'No' on All 3

(Second of a series)

When Hope's voters go to the polls next Tuesday, Nov. 7, on the proposed $765,000 city street bond program you will be faced with three propositions—but you have only one choice: To vote YES or NO on ALL THREE.

Don't attempt to split your vote. If you feel like voting Yes for one and No for another then you will simply be fouling up the issue — if that's how you feel then you should vote NO on all three propositions.

For the success of the $765,000 street bond program depends on the full amount being approved, yet for legal reasons the program has to be divided into three bond issues. Obviously you must vote YES on all three — splitting your vote is equivalent to saying NO.

We mentioned the three-part bond issue yesterday. Here's the detailed explanation:

PROPOSAL NO. 1 — To authorize a $539,000 bond issue supported by an additional 5-mill property tax with matching funds from the Municipal Water & Light Plant. The city now levies a 5-mill property tax for general municipal purposes; the additional 5-mill tax for the street bond issue is required in order to get help from the Water & Light Plant — which is permitted to match other funds but is prohibited by law from acting alone.

PROPOSAL NO. 2 — This authorizes a bond issue of $129,000 supported by a $5 license tax against all Hope motor vehicles.

PROPOSAL NO. 3 — This last proposition is for a $97,000 bond issue to which is pledged the required part of the City's parking meter revenue.

The total of these three issues is the $765,000 street bond program — obviously you will want to vote either YES on ALL THREE or NO for ALL THREE.

The bond program won't cover all city streets; it is essentially a program to build arterial or trunk-line streets across town north-south and east-west. Some citizens will object: "But it doesn't pave the street on which I live." But it offers them hope for the future, and we'll discuss that tomorrow in our final comment.

The Arkansas highway network wasn't built at one time, as we pointed out yesterday. It began with construction of trunk-line roads, then progressed to the linking up of all the county-seat towns—until today when we've finally gotten around to building farm-to-market roads.

This suggests the pattern for city street improvement, too.

But we do have to make a start.
That's the real issue next Tuesday.
Do we start — or don't we?

OEO Workers Helped Stir Houston Riot

By JOHN CHADWICK

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senator says the federal antipoverty agency whitewashed charges by Houston's mayor that Negro antipoverty workers helped foment racial unrest in the Texas city.

The charge by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., came Thursday after Mayor Louie Welch revealed to a Senate panel probing U.S. riots the contents of a letter he wrote antipoverty chief Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Welch's letter to Shriver was dated May 24, a week after racial unrest erupted into a riot at Texas Southern University in which one policeman was killed and two others were shot.

The letters asserted that local antipoverty agency employees in Houston claimed to be holding down racial tension but actually were helping feed it.

The mayor's letter, disclosed in full for the first time at the hearing, said that three antipoverty workers — identified as Roosevelt Huffpawer, Bertain English and Robert Technel — had made these statements:

"When is your racist mayor going to wake up to the fact that this town is going to burn down if he doesn't do something?"

"The shooting by students at TSU was justified because the white man has been oppressing the Negro for 300 years and now it is the black man's turn."

"Don't you know this town people just waiting to loot the stores?"

The mayor said the statements were made outside a meeting called last spring to organize a demonstration.

Subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said he regarded the statements cited by Welch as "inflammatory and threatening" and asked if the poverty employees ever discharged.

Welch said the men were fired during an August reorganization of the Houston antipoverty agency. And he said the agency has since "been most helpful to us."

But Welch said it was two months before he got a reply to his letter to Shriver in a letter signed by Walter H. Richter, director of the Southwest Regional OEO office. It said:

"In no instance have we discovered any intent or act designed to stir up violence or conflict on the part of community action agency staff members."

People Liked Chimp Art Exhibit But a Smarter Ape Didn't

By DEL MILLER

Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The exhibition was a success but a great ape tore art in action into shreds Thursday at San Francisco Zoo.

It was the first showing of the paintings by the zoo's two most talented chimpanzees. Their pictures at the fence of the ape grotto drew a large crowd.

Tallulah, an 8-year-old who had painted three blue abstracts which could almost pass for Paul Klee art—at 50 feet or farther—was the first to enter the "studio," barking like a dog. Keeper Doug Farrington carried her brush and easel.

She stopped short when she saw the crowd—put a hand over her mouth and howled. She threw a kiss and then became intent on her canvas, which had been given a thick starter line of paint. She smelled it, licked it, and then began to eat the nontoxic paint.

Later, she went into her sleeping quarters and came back with Candy, a much larger 11-year-old chimpanzee. Both apes carried their own easels. Candy had a paint roller. With it she daubed brown abstracts which had been entitled "Suffering Succotash" and "Paint by Numbers."

Tallulah began brushing her teeth and tongue white and blue. Candy examined her easel, twirled her roller, grimaced at the crowd, and then tore her

Let Him Try, Reaction to LBJ Appeal

By EDMOND LeBRETON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's appeal to the public to let him try to bring about a tax increase is evoking a "let him try it" reaction from Republicans on Capitol Hill.

In an address to a consumers' convention Thursday the President asked the people to "make yourselves heard" in support of the tax increase and to join him in fighting against higher tariffs on imports.

Johnson in effect promised to veto any tariff legislation that comes his way when he thumped the lectern and declared, "These bills must not become law—and they will not become law as long as I am President of this country."

Congressional Democrats were mostly silent about the President's remarks but Republicans expressed confidence Johnson would get burned if he tries to bring the wrath of the voters to bear on Congress in support of a tax increase.

"Let him try to the people with that issue," said Chairman Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, of the House Republican conference.

"We'll go to the people with our side of the same issue. We want to be sure any money raised by a tax increase is used to reduce the deficit and not for more spending. Then we'll talk about a tax increase," said Laird.

Even among Democrats there is apparently still widespread doubt not only that voters favor a tax increase, but that they would forgive those who vote for

Slayings Indicate Paroles to Convicts May Come Too Easy

By STEPHEN M. AUG

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The arrest of two federal parolees in the killing of two policemen has reopened a long-standing argument between police and penologists: Is it too easy to get out of jail on parole?

This time the argument—centering on an Illinois bank robbery a week ago—has reached the highest levels of law enforcement in the nation.

Director J. Edgar Hoover, of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says the case indicates parole comes too easily.

But Walter Dunbar, new chairman of the U.S. Board of Parole and former California corrections director, says a preliminary look at the records of the accused slayers convinces him he also would have voted to parole them.

The indirect debate was prompted by the case of two parolees from the federal penitentiary at Marion, Ill.—Clifton O. Daniels, 29, and Henry M. Gargano, 35.

They have been charged with aggravated bank robbery in the $83,783 holdup of a Northlake, Ill., bank Oct. 27 in which two policemen were killed during a gun battle. Conviction on the federal charge could mean the death penalty.

Gargano was paroled last March after serving 10½ years of a 21-year sentence for bank robbery and escape from a prison farm. Daniels was freed last January after serving 6 years of a 15-year bank robbery sentence.

Both have prison records dating to their teens.

Hoover noted Wednesday that both men had long criminal records and were on parole from federal prisons.

"It again shows the maladministration of the parole systems of this country," he said. While a believer in parole, he said, "I do not believe in the sloppy method in which it is administered at both the federal and local levels."

While the situation was new, Hoover's sentiments were not. On Jan. 14, 1937, referring to some of the most notorious killers of the era—John Dillinger, Alvin Karpis, Baby Face Nelson—Hoover told a congressional committee, "We have innumerable instances of parolees who go out and commit crime again."

Dunbar, who has been in penology for 26 years but was named to the board only five months ago, said in an interview Thursday every parole board in the nation faces a dilemma in deciding whether to grant parole.

"It's easy to see if a prisoner has had his teeth fixed in prison, or has learned to tune an engine—but when we get into areas of how to measure his attitude, what he'll do when he gets out, how he'll react to his associates, these are less precise," he said.

Fisherman's Body Taken From Lake

The body of E. P. Langley, 70 of Bingen, was found about 3 p.m. Thursday in the Millwood Reservoir.

He was reported missing Wednesday when he failed to return from fishing. The body was discovered in about eight feet of water some two miles north of the Saratoga landing in a wooded area.

The boat was spotted by searchers in an airplane, Sheriff Jimmie Griffin said. The Sheriff said it looked as if Mr. Langley may have had motor trouble as tools were in the bottom of the boat which remained upright. The body was discovered near the boat.

The Sheriff expressed appreciation to everyone who helped during the search.

Mr. Langley is survived by his wife. Latimer Funeral Home of Nashville will announce funeral arrangements.

$2.6 Billion Fgn. Aid Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees have agreed on a $2.67 billion foreign aid authorization that would curb the administration's authority to finance arms sales to foreign nations.

The total authorization for foreign aid this fiscal year would be $730 million below the amount asked by President Johnson if the conference version wins final approval. No action is expected in either house before next week.

Conferees approved elimination next June 30 of the Defense Department's authority to guarantee repayment of Export-Import Bank loans to underdeveloped nations for arms purchases.

Administration officials had argued strenuously before Congress for authority to continue such financing, terming it an integral part of U.S. foreign policy. They contended U.S. failure to provide such loans would leave the arms supply field to Communist nations.

850 Cong Killed in Six Days

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Herding civilians in front of them as human shields, Communist forces launched a prolonged attack today on Loc Ninh. The total number of enemy reported killed in six days of fighting for the district headquarters climbed past 850.

Under cover of a mortar barrage, the Viet Cong made a ground assault on newly arrived U.S. infantry reinforcements shortly after midnight, and sporadic action was reported still going more than 12 hours later.

Reports from the fighting today said three Americans and 28 Communists were killed and 34 Americans wounded. The defenders of Loc Ninh, grown to about 5,000 with arrival of a battalion from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division, have reported a total of 11 Americans and 23 South Vietnamese killed and 66 Americans and 74 South Vietnamese wounded in the six-day battle.

U.S. officers said the Communist tactic of sending civilians ahead of the attack forces "naturally restricted" the defenders' answering fire in the first stages of fighting today around the town, 72 miles north of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

But the defenders hit the enemy with artillery, air strikes and twin-engine C-47 planes armed with rapid-firing gatling guns.

In the air war against North Vietnam, poor weather persisted for the third day over the Hanoi-Haiphong area Thursday, limiting U.S. pilots mostly to the southern panhandle. But Marine pilots attacked the Yen Bai airfield, now used as a storage area, 60 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Loc Ninh, hub of a rubber-producing area on the main route from Saigon to Cambodia, has some military and economic value, said Col. Frederick Krause of Fullerton, Calif., chief of staff of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division. But he said the Communists' "seemingly blind determination" to take the town stems more from the political, psychological and propaganda value such a victory would have.

In other action, U.S. Marines reported that units based around the outpost of Con Thien just below the demilitarized zone were hit Thursday by 103 mortar and artillery rounds, including shells from North Vietnamese 152mm cannons. Three Marines were reported killed and two wounded.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew a total of 152 missions against North Vietnam Thursday, and the U.S. Command said a Navy A4 Skyhawk was brought down by ground fire. The pilot was missing. It was the 724th U.S. combat plane officially reported lost over the North in the war.

Get Ready, the Freeze Is Coming

The cold front which was responsible for dumping nine inches of snow at Denver, Colo., sliced into Northwest and West Arkansas today bringing light snow and rain and dropping temperatures to bone-chilling lows.

Little Rock received light snow at mid morning today, but snow was not expected to stick to the ground except in higher sections of the Ozarks.

The snow and rain, however, was expected to give way to clearing skies and below-freezing temperatures in North Arkansas by Saturday morning.

The cold front was expected to move southward and out of Arkansas by early tonight. Temperatures fell throughout the day behind the cold front with high temperatures for the day occurring early this morning in Central and Northern sections.

Low temperatures tonight will be well below freezing in most sections of North Arkansas and around freezing to a little below in Central sections and up to the mid 30s in extreme Southeast Arkansas.

Fair and cold weather is predicted for Saturday.
